Introduction

Aon's 2021 Global Risk Management Survey is designed to offer organizations the insight necessary to enable better management of risk related volatility and compete in an increasingly complex business environment.

Conducted biennially, the survey gathered input from 2,344 respondents, covering 60 countries/territories and 16 key industry clusters, at public and private companies of all sizes.

The 2021 findings from the survey, which was conducted in 11 languages, underscore that companies are grappling with new risks and highlights the differences of opinion on how to best prioritize and respond to them.

This report shows answers from survey respondents in this region benchmarked against the overall respondent base.

We hope you find this report useful and encourage you to contact your Aon representative if you have any questions regarding its content.

Methodology

This web-based survey addressed both qualitative and quantitative risk issues.

Responding Risk Managers, CROs, CFOs, treasurers and others provided feedback and insight on their insurance and risk management choices, interests and concerns.

Aon Centre of Innovation and Analytics conducted, collected and tabulated the responses.

Percentages for some of the responses may not add up to 100 percent due to rounding or respondents being able to select more than one answer.

All revenue amounts are shown in US Dollars.
